About UPUMS

Uttar Pradesh University of Medical Sciences (UPUMS), Saifai, is a distinguished state medical university spread across more than 150 acres in Etawah district. The institution comprises a fully developed tertiary-care teaching hospital with 1,050 beds, which includes a 150-bedded trauma and burn centre. It has a newly inaugurated 528-bedded super-specialty block. It offers modern academic infrastructure, including advanced laboratories, well-designed lecture theatres, and a comprehensive central library, along with extensive residential facilities for students and faculty. The university functions as an integrated medical campus, continually strengthening its clinical, educational, and research capabilities. Its combination of a rural setting with advanced health services makes it a significant centre for medical training, community health initiatives, and high-quality patient care in the region.
